At our September meeting, the Chicago Society will showcase our brother members with its annual Business Expo. The Expo will be held on September 17 at Przybylo's White Eagle in Niles. The purpose of the Expo is to give our brother members an opportunity to promote their businesses, and to encourage our own brother members to support them! Attorneys, roofers, plumbers, real estate agents, insurance agents, doctors, musicians, electricians, and all other professions are welcome. Let your brother members know what your business is and get new referrals.

Dear Brothers,

As the summer winds down with the festivities of Labor Day behind us, I hope everyone had an enjoyable and memorable summer. I would like to thank our picnic chairman Brother Koziol for organizing an outstanding Friends and Family Picnic that was held in August. I would especially like to thank Brother Matuszczak, Chris Matuszczak and Brother Czaja and Darlene Czaja for running the raffle and childrens' games, as they do every year. I would like to thank all that donated prizes for the raffle. Lastly, I would like to thank our Brother William Wojcik from Laramie Deli and Bakery for catering and donating some of the items for the picnic. Kudos to all who make this a wonderful event for all.

As we will still enjoy the many great weather days left, there are many events remaining for all to enjoy and support. POLISH SUPERSTAR RETURNS TO LYRIC OPERA

Chicago, Illinois (PMN)—Mariusz Kwiecień, the superstar Polish baritone famous the world over, returns to the Lyric Opera of Chicago this fall in one of his signature roles, the title role of Mozart's Don Giovanni. The appearance is made in partnership with the Consulate General of the Republic of Poland in Chicago.

Between September 27 and October 29, 2014, Kwiecień will join a cast of internationally acclaimed artists in a new production of Mozart's dramma giocoso, which opens Lyric's 60th anniversary season at Chicago's Civic Opera House. The new production will be conducted by Lyric's music director Sir Andrew Davis and staged by the renowned director Robert Falls, artistic director of Chicago's Goodman Theatre.

Before the performances scheduled at the opera house, Kwiecień and his fellow cast members sang the final scenes of Don Giovanni as the grand finale of the annual Stars of Lyric Opera at the city's Millennium Park free concert on September 6, also broadcast live on WFMT radio and streamed live on WFMT.com

THE SEVENTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF THE WARSAW UPRISING

By Brother Andrew Zapalski

August 1st marked the 70th anniversary of the Warsaw uprising, which was observed in Poland's capital with ceremonies. The events were attended by government dignitaries, led by Poland's President and Prime Minister. Also present at the observances were veterans of the Rising, including a small group of former Home Army soldiers from Chicago. The veterans were also guests of the Polish President at his palace.

The Warsaw Uprising lasted for 63 days, despite its leaders' prediction that it would only go on for 3-5 days. The battles were fierce and deadly, as evidenced by the participation of a select German unit, known as the Dirlewanger SS regiment (named after its commander), which was made up entirely of select, convicted criminals and political offenders. On the eve of its departure to Warsaw, the regiment was personally ordered by the commander of the SS and police, Heinrich Himmler, that: "Every resident must be killed. Take no prisoners. Warsaw is to be leveled to the ground and in this way we will set a terrifying example to all of Europe."

Dirlewanger would suffer losses three times its total number of soldiers. On the Polish side, the units made up wholly of young scouts were the most combat-experienced, specifically the Parasol (meaning umbrella and taken from the idea of a parachute) and Zoska (the nom de guerre of the unit's first commander.) Their losses were extreme.

Twenty-five to thirty thousand troops stood on the Polish side, although there were only enough weapons for 3,500. There was a complete lack of heavy weaponry. The Germans countered at this point with 15,000-16,000 soldiers and members of various paramilitary defense units. The command of the German Ninth Army, whose sector of activity included Warsaw, was unable to lend even one unit to fight the insurrection. Already beginning on July 28, they were busy blocking the path of Soviet tank divisions headed to Warsaw from the south and east. Not far from the city, three tank divisions of the SS and one regular tank division were engaged in counter-attack against the Soviets. (This was undoubtedly the largest tank battle in Poland's history). In this situation, select units of SS and police were mobilized from deep within the Third Reich to put down the Rising.

The Uprising ended tragically. Around 200,000 Varsovians perished in the battles and were brutally murdered (including 16,000 fallen soldiers of the Uprising). This was not an even fight. The city was bombarded from the air and pummeled with rockets, artillery and mortars of the highest caliber, fired by Fat Berta [Gruba Berta], whose charges weighed half a metric ton. Warsaw was being transformed into ruins. The destruction of the city continued even after capitulation, when so-called Spring Kommando units blew up entire streets and fire-bombed any kind of building in the city, not to mention priceless library collections, as well as valuable collections of ancient documents and current records.

Already the day after capitulation, on October 2, civilians, having been quickly sorted through, began to be evacuated from the city and taken to concentration or work camps, to places of forced settlement, or loaded up into train cars and transported to a field in the middle of nowhere, where these ragged, hungry people were told to go where ever their legs will carry them.

The Germans wasted no time in totally liquidating the nation's capital. The city was totally sealed at its borders and no one could enter except Germans who quickly changed Warsaw into a Festung Warschau [Fortress Warsaw]. It is said that this was the second instance in the history of mankind that a city was entirely annihilated. The first was Carthage.

When we returned to Warsaw in February, 1945, the piles of rubble were 2-3 stories high and the streets, for all intents and purposes, were buried. There was no electricity, water, gas, public transportation or bridges. There were no schools and many churches were gone. People were searching for each other in this jungle of building skeletons and mountains of rubble. They anticipated the return of loved ones from the concentration camps, from deportation to work camps, from captivity, from service in the Polish Armies of the east and west ... But brick by brick, we rebuilt Warsaw. Yet there are still those living who continue to await the return of those who never will.
